

Circle line

Board anywhere
travel in either direction
alight anywhere

Note: In 2009, the year this poem was written, the London Underground Circle Line ceased to go around a simple loop. Clockwise trains now start at Hammersmith in West London, join the loop at Edgware Road, and proceed around the loop, to terminate when they reach Edgware Road again.