

Stephen Robertson

Parallel lines

As you stare down the line till you squint with the cold seeping into each joint, it must be insane to expect that a train will emerge from the vanishing point.